PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

The Pro Se Plaintiff, OMEIL MORGAN, pursuant to provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 1654, Complaint against defendants' THE CITY OF NEW YORK; RAYMOND W. KELLY; OFFICER JOSEPH KAZLAS; OFFICER CALEEF MCCLEAN; OFFICER MATCHEL, shield no. 16928; SERGEANT WOROBEY, NYPD 079th precinct; OFFICER RAHMAN, shield no. 28165; POLICE OFFICER ONE, NYPD 079TH precinct, respectfully set forth upon information known, and belief, allege that:

1. Plaintiff alleges, this is a civil rights action for equitable relief and money damages pursuant to 42 U.S.C. §§§§ 1983, 1981(a)(c), and 1988(a)(c), in order vindicate the rights of a law-abiding New York City resident to be free from unconstitutional and unlawful stop and frisk by members of the City of New York Police Department violating his rights to the United States Constitution.

2. The New York City Police Department's Stop, Question and Frisk program has grown over 700% over the past decade and has become one of the cornerstone policies of law enforcement in the city. The controversy of constitutionality surrounding this program has grown alongside it, with the legitimacy of the program questioned in a multitude of articles, reports, lawsuits. The data released to the City Council by the New York City Police Department (NYPD) summarizing stop-and-frisk statistics for 2011 shows highest yearly total stops to date – 684,330 – with no meaningful change in huge racial disparities. This total is 14 percent higher than the number of stops in 2010, and it represents a more than 600 percent increase since 2002, the year the NYPD began keeping stop-and-frisk figures. Eighty-seven percent of those stopped in 2011 were Black or Latino, and the abysmally low rates of correlation between stops and actual arrests persist: nine out of ten persons stopped were not arrested, nor did they receive summonses.

3. Of the nearly 2.5 million or roughly 500,000 per year people stop-and-frisks that NYPD conducted in 2005 to 2009, nearly 90% were engaged in entirely lawful activity, as they were neither arrested nor issued a summons. Members of the minority communities are bearing the brunt of these NYPD practices, with Blacks and Latinos being the target of nearly 90% of NYPD stops.

4. The NYPD is using its sweeping stop-and-frisk operation to build a massive database of law-abiding, Blacks and Latinos, New York City residents. After conducting stops and frisk, police officers complete forms that, among other things, include the name and address of the person stopped, and that information is then entered into a centralized NYPD database. As a result of this practice and the surge of stops and frisks over the last several years, the NYPD now has a database of hundreds of thousands if not more than millions of law-abiding New Yorkers, like plaintiff who is now at risk of becoming the subject of criminal investigations by virtue of being in the database.

5. Plaintiff alleges, it is alleged that the individual police officers' violated, through their actions against plaintiff, his rights under the Fourth Amendments to the United States Constitution. It is further alleged that these violations and torts were committed as a result of policies and customs of the City of New York.

Facts

The Stop, Question, and Frisk Program

15. Police stops-and-frisks without reasonable suspicion violate the Fourth Amendment, and racial profiling is a violation of fundamental rights and protections of the Fourteenth Amendment and the Civil Rights Act of 1964. In recent years, the New York City Police Department's Stop, Question, and Frisk program has grown into a controversial cornerstone of police activity in New York. In the last 10 years alone, the program has grown sevenfold, from 97,296 stops in 2002 to nearly 600,000 stops in 2011. The controversy surrounding this program has grown with it, with activists, news organizations, and others focusing substantial attention on the program and calling for reform on a variety of issues related to the program. Controversial aspects of the program include the alleged pervasive use of racial profiling and a widespread pattern of stops being made without adequate legal justification.

16. One of the most controversial aspects is the apparent racial bias in the targeting of both neighborhoods and individuals. This controversy has been extensively covered by major media outlets and other news organizations and has culminated in multiple lawsuits, including Floyd v. City of New York, a class action pending in the Southern District of New York that seeks to enjoin the program in its current form on, among other bases, the racial imbalances in its execution (Exhibit 3). The NYPD's most recent data demonstrate these racial disparities, showing that while the population of New York City is only 54 percent Black or Hispanic, over 87 percent of those stopped were Black or Hispanic. This racial imbalance in the implementation of the Stop, Question, and Frisk program extends beyond the individuals stopped to the neighborhoods targeted for enforcement. For example, each of the four most active precincts for Stop, Question, and Frisk activity has a population that is majority Black and Hispanic.

17. On December 28, 2011, at approximately 12:15pm, Omeil N. Morgan and co-worker Oridian Beadle, were lawful New York City residents who had finished moving job at 488 Greene Avenue by the corner of Nostrand Avenue, in Brooklyn, New York

18. Plaintiff and Oridian Beadle got in motor vehicle parked across from 488 Greene. Plaintiff (the driver) indicated to pull out of parking; however, with much traffic moving down Greene Avenue, Plaintiff waited for time to pull out of parking space. While waiting, a police van drove passed to stop behind vehicle at traffic light. When the light changed, the police van drove-off to stop in cross-walk at Nostrand Avenue.

19. Plaintiff alleges, shortly, thereafter defendant Sergeant Worobey approach truck as plaintiff is waiting to pull out of parking. Sergeant Worobey came to passenger side that Oridian Beadle opened door to hear what officer was questioning, while all of the other defendants officers came out of their mark patrol van. Sergeant Worobey asked if we had seen anyone running in the area as he stated there was a robbery, we answered no and further explained we had just finished a moving job across the street.

20. Plaintiff alleges, as other defendant officers surrounded motor vehicle, Sergeant Worobey stated he smelled marihuana and stated it's against penal code 221.05. Further, Sergeant Worobey then told Oridian Beadle to step out of the motor vehicle and led him to driver side window. Plaintiff, with truck still running, asked officers if they were following protocol, based on how aggressive officers' were conducting themselves. Then, POLICE OFFICER ONE, who plaintiff can not identify, asked plaintiff for driver license, which plaintiff asked why he was being stopped and furnished to officer without getting reason or cause of stop.

21. Plaintiff alleges, officer Kazlas, started to question plaintiff on having marihuana in company vehicle. Plaintiff declined to answer officer Kazlas line of questioning through repeatedly asking if they were following the law. As a result, officer Kazlas removed an iphone from his pocket while still questioning plaintiff. As a result of being interrogated and asking the Officer to stop, plaintiff asked if he could take out his camera to photograph the incident, the officers didn't say anything. As a result of the incident, Mr. Morgan photographed the officers' actions while being questioned and recorded by officer Kazlas who while recording also passed iphone to OFFICER MATCHEL (Exhibits 4 – 14).

22. Plaintiff alleges, after being recorded while questioned and repeatedly asking officers to stop, Mr. Morgan called 911 at 12:27pm out of fear of the Officers' actions as he felt they were abusing their power. Due to the defendants' police officers refusal to aid him, plaintiff calling emergency was his only hope for help.

23. Plaintiff alleges, as a result of his call to 911, plaintiff could hear the operator over the radio of the officers on the scene. As a result, the Officers backed done with their aggressive measures.

24. Plaintiff alleges, in response, Officer Kazlas gave summons #433564403-6 for unlawful possession of marihuana (PL 221.05). Plaintiff protested the summons that was issued to him as he did not have any marihuana in his possession.

25. Plaintiff alleges, the defendants' officers never searched him or the truck that he was driving. Further more, Officer Kazlas claimed he found marihuana and conspired with Sergeant Worobey before issuing summons.

26. Plaintiff alleges, after receiving summons, plaintiff asked Sergeant Worobey if there is proof that he can have for the evidence that Sergeant Worobey said was going to be sent to the lab to verify it is marihuana (Exhibits 4 - 14). Plaintiff not satisfied with response from Sergeant Worobey in stating they were not going back to precinct after leaving scene. As a result, plaintiff drove at a distance behind defendants' police officers to the City of New York Police 79th Precinct, where he parked and went inside 79th Precinct to speak with Sergeant Worobey in seeing and photographing the evidence claimed to have been found in the truck by Officer Kazlas.

27. Plaintiff alleges, at no time during the events described above, plaintiff was not found using or in possession of marihuana, intoxicated, incapacitated, a threat to the safety of himself or others, or disorderly. He had not committed any criminal offenses.

28. Plaintiff alleges, the defendant police officers had no probable cause for the Stop and Questions of the plaintiff, as plaintiff protested being searched. Officer Kazlas issued the summons even though he had no basis for believing that plaintiff had done anything unlawful. The summons was issued maliciously and without probable cause.

29. Plaintiff alleges, at all times during the events described above, the defendant police officers were engaged in a joint venture. The individual officers assisted each other in performing the various actions described and lent their physical presence and support and the authority of their office to each other during the said events.

30. Plaintiff alleges, as result of the incident, he could hardly sleep for a number of days, and as a result of the incident, his heart races with anxiety and apprehension whenever he encounters police officers when he is working or not working.

31. Plaintiff alleges, as a result of incident, he filed complaint, with Civilian Complaint Board (Exhibit 1).

32. Plaintiff alleges, as a result of the incident, summons required him to appear in Criminal Court of the City of New York County of Kings. His summons was ultimately dismissed on March 23, 2012 (Exhibit 2), after his second court appearance.

33. Plaintiff alleges, on December 31, 2011 he filed complaint with Internal Affairs Bureau # 11-60430.

34. Plaintiff alleges, On March 9, 2012, he served a notice of claim (Exhibit 3), upon the Comptroller of the City of New York, pursuant to 50-e of the New York General Municipal Law.

35. Plaintiff alleges, upon information and belief, the violation of his rights resulted from the improper training of OFFICER JOSEPH KAZLAS; OFFICER CALEEF MCCLEAN; OFFICER MATCHEL, shield no. 16928; SERGEANT WOROBEY, NYPD 079th precinct; OFFICER RAHMAN, shield no. 28165; POLICE OFFICER ONE, NYPD 079TH precinct. Upon information and belief, it was the policy and/or custom of the City of New York to improperly investigate citizen complaints of police misconduct, and acts of misconduct were instead tolerated by the City of New York, including, but not limited to, plaintiff's incident.

Complaint Report (CCRB)

Initial Complaint Narrative

Mr. Morgan was seated in his truck with his coworker, whom he did not identify, and they were waiting to leave the scene of the job they had just completed at 488 Greene Avenue in Brooklyn. Officers in a marked van were waiting at a stoplight and pulled over. The officer from the passenger seat came to the passenger side of Mr. Morgan's truck and asked if they had seen anyone running nearby in the past hour. The officer later mentioned that there had been a robbery nearby. The officer eventually asked Mr. Morgan's coworker to get out of the truck. An officer asked Mr. Morgan for his ID and he supplied it. PO Kaslaz, whose shield number Mr. Morgan gave as 7769, took out an iPhone and began to record as he questioned Mr. Morgan. PO Kaslaz eventually handed the phone to another officer, PO3, who continued recording. Mr. Morgan did not obtain PO3's information. The officers never asked Mr. Morgan for the registration for his truck.

Mr. Morgan eventually received summons #433564403-6 for unlawful possession of marijuana (PL 221.05). Mr. Morgan noted that his date of birth, make/model of his vehicle, and time of occurrence were noted incorrectly on the summons. Mr. Morgan called 911 at 12:27 pm while the incident was occurring because he felt threatened. He noted that he took photographs during the incident.

Mr. Morgan supplied a vehicle number 8521-09. The officers were dressed in uniform and were from the 79th Precinct. Mr. Morgan later went to the 79th Precinct stationhouse, where an officer informed him what the summons was issued for, as he could not read it himself. Mr. Morgan provided an additional shield number 10690. He gave 8521 as a shield number as well, which does not exist in CTS.
